English Learners/Emergent Bilinguals are required by law to have access to:

- Broad and comprehensive curriculum
- English Language Development (ELD)
  - Integrated – means instruction in which the ELD standards are used in conjunction with the academic standards
  - Designated – instruction provided during a time set aside in the regular school day to focused on ELD standards to gain English language skills necessary to access the academic content 5CCR 11300 [a]

“For individual’s whose native language is other than English, linguistically appropriate goals, objectives, programs, and services shall be included in the IEP contents.” E. C. 56345

Our Ethical Obligation to English Learners

Provide quality instruction that includes best teaching practices, research-based interventions, and ongoing progress monitoring in order to avoid over-identification and under-identification of English learners for special education services.

What is the Initial ELPAC?
 The Initial ELPAC is used to identify a student as either an English learner who needs support to learn English or as proficient in English.

Why do we administer the ELPAC?
 Identifying students who need help learning English is important so students get the support they need to do well in school while receiving instruction in all school subjects. Every year, students who are English learners will take the Summative ELPAC to measure their progress in learning English, until they are reclassified as proficient in English.

Overall Performance Level:
Intermediate English Learner
 Overall Score: 425

Oral Language * (Speaking and Listening Skills) Well developed	Written Language * (Reading and Writing Skills) Somewhat to moderately developed

Note: The overall score is based on a combination of oral language (50%) and written language (50%).

Initial Levels	Initial Descriptors
Initial Fluent English Proficient (IFEP) 450-600	Students at this level have well developed oral and written English skills. They can use English to learn and communicate in meaningful ways. They may occasionally need help using English.
Intermediate English Learner 370-449	Students at this level have somewhat to moderately developed oral and written English skills. They may sometimes be able to use English to learn and communicate in meaningful ways. They may need some help to communicate about familiar topics in English and more help on less familiar topics.
Novice English Learner 150-369	Students at this level have minimally developed oral and written English skills. They may be able to use known words and phrases to communicate meaning at a basic level. They may need substantial help using English.

CDE Reclassification Criteria

1. Assessment of language proficiency using an objective assessment instrument, including, but not limited to, the English language development test that is developed or acquired pursuant to Section 60810.
2. Teacher evaluation, including, but not limited to, a review of the pupil's curriculum mastery.
3. Parental opinion and consultation.
4. Comparison of the performance of the pupil in basic skills against an empirically established range of performance in basic skills based upon the performance of English proficient pupils of the same age, that demonstrates whether the pupil is sufficiently proficient in English to participate effectively in a curriculum designed for pupils of the same age whose native language is English.

Reclassification

- Reclassification (or redesignation) is the process LEAs use to determine whether or not an English learner student has acquired sufficient English skills to successfully engage in classroom learning of the core academic curriculum taught in English, and to be accurately assessed in academic subject matter using English, without specialized English learner services and supports.
- When English learner students demonstrate that they have acquired the necessary English skills to be academically successful without this specialized support, they are reclassified as fluent English proficient (RFEP).

Who are our ELs with Disabilities?

- SWD and ELs are the fastest growing and lowest performing subgroup of students in California (Education Data Partnership, 2016).
- California Assessment of Student Performance and Progress (CAASPP) results for English/language arts and Mathematics demonstrate that the subgroups of ELs and SWD respectively, continue to trail over 10 points behind their English only, nondisabled peers (CDE, 2017a).

Culturally and Linguistically Responsive and Sustaining Pedagogy

California Practitioner's Guide, (Chapter 6, page 300-304)

Culturally and Linguistically Responsive and Sustaining Pedagogy

Cultural proficiency and competency are at the heart of establishing effective classroom contexts for learning.

English learners with disabilities bring to the classroom a wealth of cultural, linguistic, familial, community, and individual assets that should be valued, respected, and leveraged for school learning.

Culturally and Linguistically Responsive and Sustaining Pedagogy

- Families of dually identified students may have faced stigmas for having a child with disabilities, or may avoid the label of disability and disability services due to fear of stigmatization.
- When the school system lacks the cultural competency and cultural proficiency to communicate effectively and meaningfully with families, positive family-school partnerships are hindered, and therefore effective services to English learners with disabilities are undermined.

Culturally and Linguistically Responsive and Sustaining Pedagogy

What can educators do to support students?

- develop culturally sensitive interpersonal awareness and skills;
- take the time to understand the diverse cultures in the classroom and the experiences families may have had prior to arriving in and while in the United States;
- be aware of the cultural perspectives parents and families may have about children with disabilities; and
- provide culturally sensitive counseling or peer support groups for parents and families so that they have someone to talk to who understands their particular cultural perspectives

Some tangible culturally and linguistically sustaining pedagogical practices include (but are far from limited to):

- using an ethnic studies curriculum;
- using culturally relevant literature and informational texts;
- using students' cultural backgrounds as the basis for selecting academic topics of study;
- emphasizing social justice topics;
- promoting multilingualism; and
- inviting students to use their primary language in learning tasks.

Break Out Room Activity- 10 minutes

Please discuss with others in the break out room the information in the previous slide (Figure 7.2). The link to this document is provided for you in the chat.

Discuss how your school site meets the recommendations listed for classrooms that exhibit culturally and linguistically responsive settings.

Are there other practices that you would recommend that are not listed?

Paraprofessional-Teacher Partnerships

What are the communication protocols established at your site?

- What is your role? What are your responsibilities?
- What are the management and instruction expectations of the teacher(s) you support?
- How do you contribute to the communication protocols established by your team?

Communication

Collaborate with teacher to establish effective communication protocols

- Pre-plan sessions with teacher(s) prior to delivering lessons,
- Discuss best practices with teacher(s) as it relates to communication with students,
- Schedule time to meet with student(s),
- Communicate student progress to the classroom/core content teacher(s).

Breakout Group: Communication

How do you currently collaborate with the teacher(s) you support to ensure effective communication?

How might you improve your collaboration with the teacher(s) you support to ensure effective communication?

Supporting with Linguistically Appropriate IEP Goals

Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS)

- Focus is on quality teaching and learning for ALL students in all content areas using standards-based and research-based instruction
- This includes comprehensive ELD for Els.
- Includes appropriate assessments (screening, diagnostic, formative and progress monitoring) to inform decisions.
- Provides for necessary supplemental and intensive instruction for students underperforming and at-risk.
- Endorses universal design for learning (UDL)

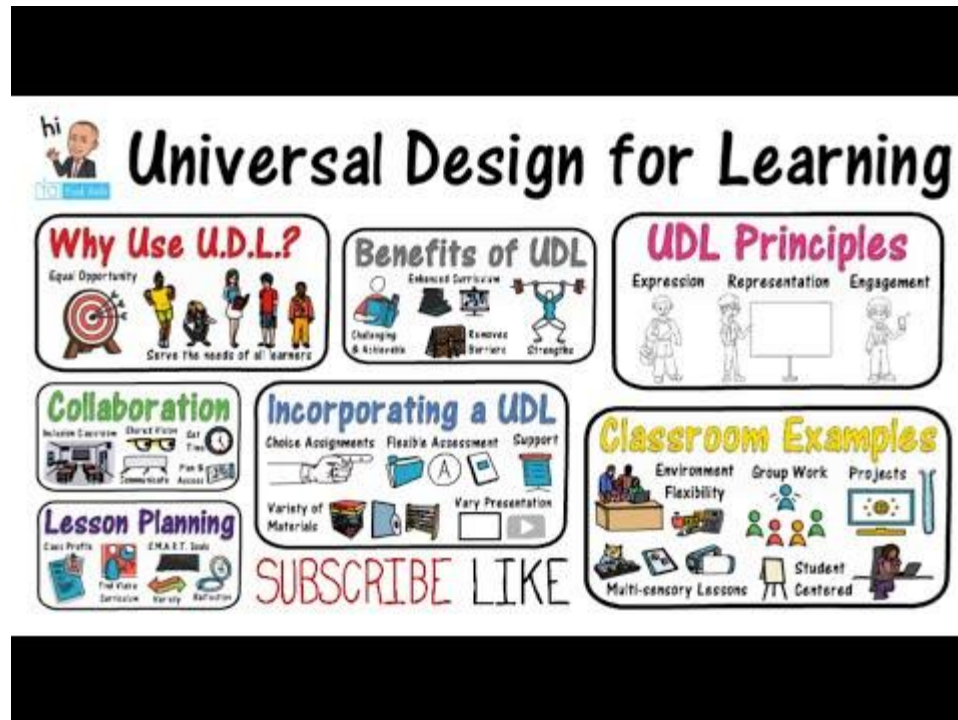

UDL is an approach to building instruction that is accessible for all learners. It aims to give all students an equal opportunity to access and make steady progress toward California grade level content standards regardless of the students' language acquisition levels, disability, or other learning needs.

Traditional vs. Inclusive Classrooms

- Teaching is a one-size fits all approach.
- Differentiation is for specific students only.
- The teacher decides how the material is taught.
- The classroom has a fixed physical set up.
- There is only one way to complete an assignment or assess student progress and learning.
- Grades are the only way to measure performance.

- Teaching focuses on both the content and in what ways using many approaches to reach a diverse range of learners.
- Differentiation is for all students with the goal of providing access to rich learning.
- The teacher confers with students, providing student choice when possible, and facilitates how students will learn.
- The classroom has a flexible set up, and both teacher and students have multiple options.
- There are multiple options for students to demonstrate their learning; ways that are not limited by narrow understanding of standards.
- Students are given continuous and meaningful feedback on their learning and progress through formative assessment processes and other assessment methods.
- Students set their learning goals with the teacher and reflect on their learning periodically.

RECOMMENDED TEACHING AND LEARNING STRATEGIES TO SUPPORT ENGLISH LEARNERS WITH DISABILITIES

- LEVERAGING BACKGROUND KNOWLEDGE
- SCAFFOLDING COMPREHENSION OF COMPLEX TEXTS
- FOSTERING VOCABULARY DEVELOPMENT
- SCAFFOLDING WRITING AND LANGUAGE AWARENESS
- COLLABORATIVE DISCUSSIONS
- SEQUENCING LEARNING TASKS

The California Practitioners' Guide for Educating English Learners with Disabilities pages 322-326

Primary Language Support

Primary language support, not to be confused with “language of instruction,” is always an option for English learners and can be used at any time to provide equal access to teaching and learning tasks.

Examples of primary language support include:

- explaining instructions for a learning task in the student’s primary language, as needed;
- providing a written translation for a learning task (e.g., a math problem-solving task);
- drawing students’ attention to cognates in their primary language;
- inviting students to speak or write in their primary language, as appropriate to the learning task.

Page 321

ELPAC & Accessibility

For Tk-12 students, the IEP Team annually determines:

1. If ELPAC will be administered with or without accessibility tools (i.e. universal supports, designated embedded and/or non-embedded supports, and/or accommodations

AND/ OR

2. If any Domains of the ELPAC will be exempted (omitted)

OR

3. If the use of a locally agreed upon Alternate assessment of English language proficiency is most appropriate, in whole or in part.
